

LAES has developed a series of immigrant issue instructional modules entitled "Tierra de Oportunidad" for orientation to our complex society.

Date: _____

Student Name _____

Teacher Name _____

Student Survey:
Learning to Learn

Please answer the following questions so that you and the instructor can have a better idea how much you already know about the subject of learning how to learn. By this we mean what activities or conditions help you to learn better and faster.

1. What do you hope to learn by taking this class or workshop?

2. What plans do you have for continuing to learn after this class or workshop is over? What are your long - range learning goals?

3. In a class or workshop what kind of activities help you to learn?

4. What are some of the things you could do in and outside of class to learn more or improve your skills?

5. What gets in the way of learning and slows you down or prevents you from learning?

6. When you are learning something new, for example in a class or at work, do you think about how well you are learning and what you could do to learn faster and better?

Yes _____ No _____

7. How much do you think your attitude about your ability to learn affects your learning?

A lot ____ A little ____ Not very much ____ Not sure ____

8. If you needed to learn 6 new words, how would you learn them best and fastest?

_____ by seeing them _____ by hearing them spoken _____ by writing them

_____ Other, please tell us: _____ Can't say

9. Describe a good teacher. What kind of things does she or he do in the class? How is he or she with the students? How does she or he facilitate learning?

10. What experience do you have helping other people learn new things? And, if you've done that, what results did you see? How did it make you feel (more or less self-confident)?

11. What kinds of things do you read? Think about the different kinds of things you read—pamphlets, manuals, advertisements, newspapers, magazines, books. Whatever you read, how do you do things differently when you read one kind of material or another, or for one reason or another—like passing the driving test or reading how to program a VCR? Tell us about how you read?

Authors: Ed Kissam and Holda Dorsey

A project of the California Department of Education, Youth, Adult and Alternative Educational Services Division, funded by contract #4213 of the Federal P.L. 100-297, Section 353 with California State University Institute and Hacienda LaPuente USD. However, the content does not necessarily reflect the position of that unit or of the U.S. Office of Education. 1997